

FOUR SHORES. ONE TABLE.

A personal expression of my love for Greece, Portugal, Jordan and the Levant.

This menu is not only about flavours. It is a story of culture, hospitality, and the warmth and generosity of the Mediterranean. Each dish brings together ingredients, traditions and memories from these shores, interpreted through my own culinary style.

It is food made to be shared, conversations to linger over, and a table that brings different cultures together.

MEZZA

At the Heart of the Table

Greece | Golden Filo & Feta

Crispy golden filo pastry wrapped around creamy feta cheese, finished with thyme honey and toasted sesame seeds.

Jordan Meets Galicia | Hummus & Salsa Brava

Silky homemade hummus with a sweet and smoky Spanish salsa brava, glossy cherry tomatoes, garlic and fresh mint.

Portugal Meets Jordan | Presunto, Medjool Dates & Algarve Cornbread

Smoked Portuguese presunto with Jordanian Medjool dates, oregano, olives and crispy onions, infused with smoked Portuguese olive oil. Served over a light Algarve cornbread base enriched with brown butter, finished with cream cheese and pistachios.

Aleppo Meets Andalucía | Charcoal Muhammara

A rich Aleppian dip of charcoal-roasted red peppers and walnuts, smoked paprika and pomegranate molasses, finished with browned butter and Padrón peppers.

Athens & Beirut | Smoked Baba Ghanoush

Charred and caramelised aubergines blended with tahini and garlic, finished with crumbled Greek feta, fresh raspberries and pomegranate molasses, topped with smoked Portuguese olive oil.

Mafra & Jordan | Zaatar Bread

Portuguese Mafra bread, made for sharing around the table, topped with fragrant Jordanian zaatar.

THE MAIN TABLE

Two Dishes. One Shared Table.

Served in traditional Portuguese earthenware dishes, in a relaxed friends-and-gathering style.

Portugal | Arroz de Pato

or

Levant | Slow-Cooked Lamb

Please choose one.

Arroz de Pato

The iconic Portuguese duck rice, prepared with very slow-cooked duck and tender, deeply flavoured meat. The rice is cooked in a rich duck broth with Syrian-inspired aromatics, sweet raisins and finely chopped carrots, then finished with crisp chouriço and toasted pine nuts.

Alternatively, the dish can be prepared with slow-cooked lamb in a Levantine style.

Greece & Portugal | Smoked Chicken Moussaka

Created especially with Payal in mind.

Layers of roasted aubergine, zucchini and potato with smoked Portuguese chicken, topped with silky béchamel and finished with a crisp Portuguese broa de milho crust.

DESSERT

Served Individually

Portugal | Bolo de Bolacha

A refined take on the beloved Portuguese biscuit cake. Layers of coffee-soaked tea biscuits and light cream, finished with biscuit crumble and caramel sauce, served individually in glass jars.

My playful name for it: the older sister of tiramisu.

Best enjoyed alongside a coffee, without sugar.
